

Chill Out Pass

I've got nothing against you personally, but I find your behaviour is distracting me or other members of the class.

It is interrupting our teaching/learning environment.

I would like you to "chill out" for a few minutes.

This is not a punishment but a chance for both of us to "have a break".

What were you doing?

Why didn't the teacher like it?

What would you do if you were in the teacher's shoes?

What can you do to stop it happening again?

Chill Out!

Have a quick read of the back of this card.

All members of our school community have the:

Right

- to be treated with courtesy and respect
- to work in and enjoy a safe, secure and clean working environment
- to teach and learn without disruption
- to achieve their educational potential
- to have their property respected
- to be proud of their achievements

Responsibility

- to show respect and courtesy to others
- to keep our environment safe, secure and clean
- to ensure that there is no disruption to another person's teaching-learning environment
- to develop their potential and to assist others in doing the same
- to respect student, staff and school property
- to ensure that their actions do not discredit the school
